Education Is The Best Defense Against Scams

The East Whiteland Township Police Department reminds residents to be alert for scams.

The Department is receiving far too many reports of scam attempts on residents. Statistics indicate that many more are never reported. With the increase in phone anonymity, internet usage and electronic payment sources, it has become too easy for the "scammer."

Most scams are set up the same: The victim receives a phone call or a message on a computer, indicating they owe money (to the IRS, PECO, etc.) and that they will be arrested or their electric service shut off if a payment is not made immediately by purchasing "Green Dot" or similar type cards and revealing the serial number to the scammer. The money is then gone in an instant.

The computer scam may also involve the scammer or hacker taking over a computer and requesting money to fix the problem or to give the victim control of the computer. These are just a few of the common scams currently in circulation.

Most of the victims of these scams never report them to law enforcement because they are embarrassed for falling for the scam. Many are elderly victims and the financial impact is significant.

The best defense is to be educated. Inform everyone, especially those most vulnerable, about the scams and please call the Police Department any time there is any question. The Department will assess each situation to identify any frauds and scam attempts.

Inquirer Takes A Look At East Whiteland

The Inquirer's real estate writer, Alan Heavens, recently profiled the Township as part of his series spotlighting local communities.

The story begins...

Companies congregate here, drawing buyers

It's high time we headed over to East Whiteland for a visit.

After all, without this 11-square-mile Chester County community, a good many folks in this region would be unemployed.

There are so many corporate headquarters in East Whiteland that every weekday, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., the township's population of 10,650 increases by more than 23,000.
